

PRIVACY POLICY

We at Hack for the People (“Hack for the People,” “we,” “us,” or “our”) have created this Privacy Policy because we know you care about how information you provide to us is used and shared. This Privacy Policy relates to the information collection and use practices of Hack for the People in connection with our services.

This Privacy Policy applies to all contestants in the Hack for the People hackathon, including individuals and organizations who have signed up to access and use our services to post and/or sponsor Hackathons.

CONSENT

By competing in our hackathon, you hereby consent to our Privacy Policy and agree to its terms. Each Contestant acknowledges that the Contestant has read, understood and agrees to be legally bound by the terms of this Privacy Policy and the accompanying Code of Conduct for the Hackathon.

INFORMATION WE COLLECT

- The personal information that you are asked to provide, and the reasons why you are asked to provide it, will be made clear to you at the point we ask you to provide your personal information.
- If you contact us directly, we may receive additional information about you such as your name, email address, phone number, the contents of the message and/or attachments you may send us, and any other information you may choose to provide.
- Hack for the People operates primarily through Discord. We are in no way affiliated with Discord, and the Privacy Policy for Discord applies to each user. We might require additional information in order to identify contestants during the hackathon.

HOW WE USE YOUR INFORMATION

We use the information we collect in various ways, including to:

- Provide, operate, and maintain our hackathon
- Improve, personalize, and expand our hackathon
- Understand and analyze how you participate in the hackathon and utilize its services
- Develop new services, features, and functionality
- Communicate with you, either directly or through one of our partners, including for assistance, to provide you with updates and other information relating to the hackathon

HACKATHON INFORMATION SUBMISSION

If you would like to register and/or submit an entry for Hack for the People, you will need to provide your name, e-mail address, the name of your submission, description of your submission, names of your team members and any other required information. We may share the Hackathon Submission Information with the applicable sponsors. We may use such Hackathon Submission Information to give you more tailored recommendations regarding future hackathons.

PRIVACY POLICY

We at Hack for the People (“Hack for the People,” “we,” “us,” or “our”) have created this Privacy Policy because we know you care about how information you provide to us is used and shared. This Privacy Policy relates to the information collection and use practices of Hack for the People in connection with our services.

This Privacy Policy applies to all contestants in the Hack for the People hackathon, including individuals and organizations who have signed up to access and use our services to post and/or sponsor Hackathons.

RETENTION OF PERSONAL INFORMATION

We will retain your personal information in a form that identifies you only for as long as it serves the purposes for which it was initially collected as stated in this Privacy Policy, subsequently authorized, or as allowed under applicable law.

CHANGES TO OUR PRIVACY POLICY

This Privacy Policy is effective as of the date listed at the bottom of this document. We may change this Privacy Policy from time to time, and will inform contestants as soon as they go into effect. By visiting and/or participating in our hackathon after we make any such changes to this Privacy Policy, you are deemed to have accepted such changes. Please refer back to this Privacy Policy on a regular basis.

CONTACT US

If you have any questions about this Privacy Policy or anything in general, please contact us at team@hackforthepeople.com or contact any hackathon organizers or executive directors on Discord.